COVID-19 Wellness Packages

Covid-19 is a highly contagious respiratory and vascular disease. It is caused by becoming infected with the coronavirus SARS-CoV-2. The virus transmits mainly through respiratory droplets or aerosols released by an infected person. It can also spread through touching of contaminated surfaces such as door handles, staircase railings or furniture.

Persons infected by this highly contagious disease are also at risk of developing unforeseen and life threatening complications. Elderly people and those having co-morbidities like diabetes, vascular disease or recent history of terminal disease are especially vulnerable to dangerous outcomes.

Furthermore, constant health monitoring of persons who have healed from Covid-19 is highly recommended for an extended period of time. This is due to the possibility of long term impact of the disease on the health of the infected person.

A. J. Hospital & Research Centre offers various affordably priced Covid-19 Wellness Packages to address patient concerns at various stages of exposure to Covid-19. The package includes confirmatory tests for infection as well as tests on various other parameters to evaluate patient's health. A. J.
